DEFINITE ANNOUNCEMENT MADE THAT BESCO LINE WILL BE BUILT

Pennsylvania Railroad to Construct Waynesburg Branch This Year

SECURING RIGHTS-OF-WAY

Announcement was made at Waynesburg Tuesday that the extension of the Pennsylvania railroad from Besco to Waynesburg will be made this year, and that efforts are being made to secure rights of way near Waynesburg and in and about Morrisville for the line

W. D. Shull, superintendent of the Waynesburg and Washington Railway company, stated that he had been informed by the Pennsylvania company that the road from Besco to Clarksville would be built at once. From Clarksville a line would be built up the North branch of Ten Mile creek to Marianna and another line extended up the south branch of Ten Mile creek to Waynesburg. Mr. Shull also confirmed the report that the company hoped to complete this work this year.

It is understood that later the Wheeling Coal company road between Wheeling and Marianna will be built and then the W. & W. between Waynesburg and Hackney will be widened thus connecting Waynesburg with the Wheeling Coal road at that place.

There have been efforts the past few days to secure propreny along Ten Mile creek especially in the neighborhood of Morrisville. It was reported that this was in the interest of the railroad. After the announcement Tuesday of the intention of the company to build the road the coming summer it was admitted that these efforts were for the securing of the right of way. Among the negotiations on foot to secure property are those with J. B. F. Rinehart, owner of the Waynesburg Brewery property at the mouth of Smith Creek on thesouth side of Ten Mile creek. It is understood that there is but little between the parties concerned and that the deal of this property may be closed in a short time.

TO INAUGURATE ROAD MOVEMENT

Public Meeting of Good Roads Enthusiasts of County to Be Held Friday

PROBLEMS WILL BE STUDIED

A great public movement, which may result in covering Washington county with a network of improved highways, linking together in the most effective manner all points, will be inaugurated on Friday at Washington by the Washington County Good Roads association.

The association has taken up the bond issue idea and proposes, having devised a comprehensive system of highways which will serve the residents of the county for many years to come, to push the scheme through, especially making sure that 100 cents worth of road will be built for every dollar expended. It is planned to have a committee of three representative men appointed to co-operate with the county commissioners to this end.

The Good Roads association has had an active existence, though a short one, having been largely instrumental in the celebration of a state wide Good Roads Day and the marked improvement of Washington county roads through the personal work of all citizens on that day. The association members feel certain that the large majority of the citizens favor a system of good roads and will back them in this new effort, destined if succesful to be by far the greatest and most profitable for the county it has attempted

Letters have been sent out broadcast over the county to men in all stations of life, asking them to attend the Friday meeting which will be in

GLASS COMPANY TO MANUFACTURE ARTIFICIAL GAS

Point Marion Plant Adopts Provisions to Prevent Fuel Trouble

WILL BUILD GAS PRODUCERS

Just as the Jeannette Glass company of Point Marion provided against a shortage of natural gas by boring its own wells some 14 years ago, so now is it providing against a possible failure of its natural gas supply by developing a tract of coal which it acquired several years ago.

Application will be made to the governor of Pennsylvania Monday, March 5, by Jules J. Quertmont, George Carlier, Florise Duliere, John B. Quertinmont and others for a charter for the Greene County Coal company, which will develop the Pittsburg vein of coal underlying the Keener farm, which is on the west shore of the Monongahela river, opposite the plant of the Jeannette company.

Shortage of fuel has seriously handicapped many glass concerns and there is no telling when the Point Marion companies may find themselves in the same boat.

Plans have not been made to build gas producers at once, but the tract of 34 acres will be opened up and gotten in shape so that there will be no serious delay if a shortage should occur.

Recent cold waves have closed down many Pennsylvania and West Virginia plants. Their resumption will depend upon the duration of the cold wave.

Gas shortage has been reported all through the Pittsburg district, and in Kane and Smithport factory operation has been interfered with, the Kane being down for ten days for hot repairs and the Pennsylvania having been down since Saturday until Thursday of last week. Mt. Jewett and Hazelhurst are also short of gas.

The American Window Glass company was forced to close down its tanks at Belle Vernon, Jeannette and Arnold and Monongahela for a day and a half of last week, but are reported as having started again. One of the big tanks at Jeannette was closed down last Saturday for hot repairs expected to require ten days' time.

Every plant in the Clarksburg, W. Va., district with the exception of the Pittsburg Plate Glass company, has been down since the latter part of last week, it is reported, and lack of fuel has also caused the closing down of plants at Sistersville, Pennsboro, Salem, Weston, Grafton, Mannington, W. Va., and Masontown, Wilcox and New Bethlehem, Pa. Plants not dependent upon natural gas for fuel have also been heavily handicapped and in some cases been forced to cease operation.

The Sandusky Glass company of Sandusky, Ohio, being unable to get coal which had been contracted for, closed down Tuesday, February 7. The plant has been making a game effort to keep going for some time

VALENTINE DAY.

Today is St. Valentine's day, and a day given over to the sending of love tokens, according to an old time custom. It also is the occasion for playing practical jokes, a custom that has been growing as much as that of sending love tokens.

With St. Valentine's day it is like have been associated with the day is a puzzle. St. Valentine was a Christian martyr of the third century, and February 14 is annually observed as a festival in his memory. There is a very old notion that birds begin to mate on this date, though there is no really good authority for the notion. Probably from this belief has grown the idea of sending love tokens.

With St. Valentine's day itis like many other holidays. Originally the day was given over to a different sort of observance from what it is now. Formerly the day was known chiefly as a religious festival, instead of an occasion for sending delicately arranged pretties to an admired friend or a horrible colored drawing anonymously to a neighbor to draw their attention presumably to a fault. How many girls or boys today, or how many men or women. consider the real significance of the date. They are few indeed. So it is with many holidays that have grown into popular everyday observance.

PROTECTING OUR HOLIDAYS

We need to protect our holidays. America has very few genuinely American holidays that the nation observes in the spirit in which the observance should be We are losing interest, but why

This week the birthday of a martyred president, one of the greatest the nation ever had, was celebrated as a part holiday Some business was suspended for the day. and the newspapers recalled some of the things for which the immortal Lincoln was noted. Thus was homage paid.

Next Thursday will come the birthdoy of another great President, George Washington, the Father of His Country. In the same way that we remembered Lincoln will be remembered Washington and the same sort of homage will be paid his memory.

In a short time will come Easter Day when joyfully we will celebrate the resurrection of the Christ. No other holiday in the year is better regarded perhaps. with more attention paid to the true significance of the date. It is a church day of note.

Then in the course of events along will come Memorial Day—Decoration Day hardly seems a name to fit. Baseball games and other events in which there is lacking completely any reference to the spirit of the day will help us enjoy a good time. If the real meaning of the day is made apparent by any it will be only by those few remaining soldiers. who stood so nobly by their country in its hour of need back in the sixties. With the Fourth of July, with Thanksgiving day,with Christmas. the same will be true.

True observance of our holidays is needed, if we are to maintain our patriotism. We must not forget.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

TEACHING LINCOLN

The suggestion that the life of Abraham Lincoln be taught in the public schools is opposed by a Nebarska newspaper on the ground that "if our boys are compelled to study Lincoln they won't like him."

It isn't meant, apparently. to insinuate that Lincoln himself is unlikable on close acquaintance. The idea is that, inasmuch as children dislike nearly everything they are forced to study, they would dislike Lincoln. too. if he were added to the curriculum.

It might turn out that way. But doesn't it all depend on the manner of teaching? There seems to be no reason in the nature of things why boys and girls should usually dislike an author they have studied in school. It's stupid and mechanical instruction that does the harm. The pupils of a "live teacher." who breathes the breath of life into the books she handles and the subjects she teaches, doesn't have any such trouble. Her children don't leave school loathing things or people because they've studied them.

If Lincoln is taught in the usual dry-as-dust way—if he's divided into "an earlier, middle and later period" and each period elaborately dissected and criticised if his speeches and writings are analyzed after the usual manner of literary instruction in high schools; if the pupils are required to pass drastic examinations on all facts and dates of Lincoln's career; if he is held up as a superhuman model of all the virtues, it's needless to say they won't like him. But if he's set forth as a flesh-and-blood human being, with all his queer, homely qualities along with his noble character and big brain, then how can any American child help loving and emulating him?—East Liverpool Review.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

Mr. Parrot wanted the picture hung to the right of the mirror: Mrs. Parrott wanted it hung to the left. For once he proved the more insistent of the two, and Joseph. the janitor, was summoned to hang the picture according to his orders. Obediently Joseph drove in a nail on the right, as directed; this done. he also drove one in the wall on the left

"What is that second nail for?" Mr. Parrott demanded.

"It's to save me the trouble of fetching the ladder tomorrow wh en you come around to the missus way of thinking.' said Joseph.

A teacher from New York State was a visitor in Boston. A native guide was proudly showing the stranger historical points of interest. Upon seeing the tomb of Samuel Adams. the instructor was moved to unseemly mirth, much to the amazement and indignation of her pilot. Quickly controlling herself. however she apologized for her laughter and offered the following explanation:

"Last term I was teaching a grade of sixth-year pupils about the continent of South America When the day came for examination on the subject I found in writing the questions on the blackboard. that space was limited So I abbreviated the name of the continent One question read. 'In what zones does S. A. lie?'

"That night, in marking the papers this startling answer confronted me: 'Samuel Adams lies in the Torrid Zone!"

GROCER CLAIMS HE WAS HELD UP AND ROBBED OF $1,775 BY TWO NEGROES

Claiming that he had been held up at the point of a gun by two negroes and robbed of $1,775 which he had just received in collections from patrons in Langeloth and was bringing for safekeeping to the bank here, Dan Matijevic, grocer and butcher of Eastonville, Tuesday appealed to authorities to apprehend the men whom he says stopped him.

Saturday was pay day at the chemical plant at Langeloth and Matijevic made collections from customers. He stated that he had very good success and his papers would show that he had received $1,775 during the few hours he had been collecting. He finished up and was hurrying to Burgettstown to a bank, when on the highway in a secluded spot near the fair grounds he met the negroes. They lost no time in showing their guns and demanding his money. He had no opportunity to flee or resist. The negroes disappeared hurriedly and Matijevic went to Burgettstown for help

State police worked on the case all day, but were unable to find the slighest trace of the alleged holdup men.

Emblem That Is Historic.

Of historical interest is the emblem found on every prescription written by a physician. consisting of the letter R with a thin line across the tail at an acute angle. According to historians it had its origin in the ancient custom of allowing the stars to dominate everyday incidents of life. The R thus marked is said to have been the emblem used by the ancients to designate the supremacy of the planet Jupiter. Therefore it seems probable that some chemist of ancient days gave a prescription or a recipe to some patient and wrote upon it the emblem of the planet then in the ascendancy, which happened to be Jupiter. This emblem has come down to the present time and is always used. In a more modern sense it stands for a recipe, or an order or instruction to take something. Literally construed, it means "take" or "take thou."

Model City of McDonald Will Be Distinctive

Plans For Proposed Town Announced by Carnegie Company

WILL ERECT MANY HOMES FOR WORKERS

Work on Town Will Begin in Spring—Dwellings to be Rented

Definite announcement of plans with regard to construction of the model city, McDonald, southwest of Girard, was made today by officials of the United States Steel corporation. Work on the new city, which will rival Gary, Ind., modern mushroom town, famous as the community which grew to cityhood over night, will commence in the spring as soon as the weather breaks, according to the Youngstown Daily Vindicator.

The big steel corporation, which built Gary, Ind., promises to duplicate its performance in erecting McDonald and thus add still more to the prestige of the remarkable Mahoning valley. It is stated, though, that McDonald will be even more modern than Gary as several years have elapsed since Gary was conceived and in the meantime improvements in municipal works have been made.

The corporation plans to expend several million dollars to build the projected city. In the beginning the town will consist of between 400 and 500 dwellings, churches, at least one up-to-date school building to be one of the finest in the valley, a public library and stores. In the main part of the city brick business blocks will be constructed. Houses will not be thrown together in a haphazard manner, but will be substantially constructed with all modern conveniences.

Rents Moderate.

Concrete will be the material used in building many of the homes. Rents will be cheap and will be charged at the average of $2.50 a room to mill employes Gas, sewers, electric lights, water, paved streets, sidewalks and a car line through the center of the city are a few of the many ideas to be carried out, that will make McDonald one of the finest little municipalities in the state.

The community will be built for an initial population of 5,000. It will have a public park for the recreation of young and old and streets and boulevards marked by their beauty. All streets and boulevards as far as possible will be laid out at right angles to each other. The main boulevard will be approximately 275 feet wide.

All Streets Paved

Wells are being drilled. They are in the experimental stage, however It is likely that a supply of fine water will be discovered. Should this prove a failure the people will have recourse to the Mahoning river.

All wiring is to be in conduit. This is done with the view of eliminating the harsh effects of bent telephone poles. The steel company will generate electricity enough to supply the city in addition to the plant. Water pressure for fire service will also be furnished to the people by the Carnegie company.

It would not be surprising to have gas manufactured from the Carnegie proposed coke ovens utilized for cooking and lighting purposes in McDonald homes.

All building restrictions will be closely adhered to. No one house will project in front of its neighboor, nor will there be any flatiron blocks. There is plenty of land to expand which will be done as soon as all the mills are erected.

Regarding the sewerage facilities there is no town in Ohio which can be operated under more favorable conditions. Everything seems to be naturally economic. It shows that the engineers selected by the Carnegie people knew that the approval site for McDonald was an economic proposition from the beginning.

One important feature, although at present it will not be started on a big plan is the proposed recreation park for both young and old. No expense will be spared on this idea of municipal welfare. Thomas McDonald, who has always taken a special interest in children's play was probobly the most instrumental in having this plan carried out.

Like all modern cities McDonald is going to have a street car line pass through the town The most probable place where this line will cross the Mahoning river is at the west end of the Carnegie property. However, the location of the bridge has not yet been settled.

Plans Foot Bridge.

As a matter of "safety first" the company is planning a foot bridge from a point on the Niles-McKinley Heights road across four railroad tracks and the Mahoning river.

Another "safety first" idea which will be carried out is the use of a subway. This will be approximately 900 feet long and run under the mill, thus eliminating danger of crossing mill tracks. A bridge from McDonald to the plant will eliminate a grade crossing of the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Approximately 400 feet of this subway is finished.

In every respect the corporation is endeavoring to safeguard its employes from accident. The safety first idea in the mill is simply an extension of the same idea in the town. Everything in the little city is on a safety first plan.

Rapid progress is being made on the plant itself. 204-t1

If bonds are issued will the roads built from the proceeds outlive the bonds? Will the roads connect various sections of the county with due regard for the claims of each? "GOOD FELLOWS" OF HISTORY

They Are of Both Sexes and Have Saved World From Being an Utter Failure, Says Writer.

Good fellows are not limited to one sex. Not by any means. This would be a sorry world if they were. In fact, they may be found anywhere, and everywhere, for wherever you hear a cheerful, heartsome song there you will find a good fellow, as surely as there is a partridge where "bob white" is.

The good fellows have saved the world from proving an utter failure, and whatever there is that is worth having is due to their good offices, and whatsoever of greatness this old world may achieve in ages to come it will owe to the good fellows who belong to the ages.

Your really good fellow is not a goody-goody chap, too pretty to mingle with the throng, and to fine for everyday use. Not he. Being neither sugar nor salt, he will stand a deal of rain and storm, and with courage strong he is ever ready for any fray in which the right is assailed. To him death is a secondary matter when to live would be to play the coward.

"Be of good comfort, Master Ridley," Latimer cried as the flames crackled around him. "Play the man! We shall this day light such a candle, by God's grace, in England as, I trust, shall never be put out."—Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

Thankful Invalid.

"Well, Mrs. Davies," said the district visitor to the old woman who had been bedridden for years, "and how are you today?"

"Oh, I'm pretty well, thank you," was the cheerful answer

"Ah, that's right!" responded the clergyman sympathetically. "I hardly expected to find you to be in such good spirits, considering your affliction. I was afraid I should find you down hearted."

"No, no, sir!" she cried, interrupting him. "No, no, indeed, sir! I've much to be thankful for, I have. Why, only the other night when that house just opposite was on fire I couldn't help thinking of all the poor people crushing each other in the street and many of them not getting a sight of the fire at all, while here was I, all nice and comfortable in bed, and I could see it beautifully through my window without even turning over. Yes, sir; I've a lot to be thankful for."—Exchange.

Novel Methods of Warfare.

In ancient history there are two well authenticated instances of wild animals being used by attacking armies. The first is related by Appian when describing the siege of Themiseyra, in Pontus, by Lucullus in his war against Mithridates. Turrets were brought up, the walls battered, and huge mines were made by the Romans. The people of Themiseyra dug open these mines from within and through these holes cast down upon the workmen bees and other wild animals, together with "clouds" of fires. The second instance occurred in England when the Danes and Norwegians were attacking Chester, held by the Saxons and some British auxiliaries. After adopting various plans and finding water defenses unavailing against the besiegers the Saxons threw down all the beehives in the town upon the attackers, who were soon routed.—Exchange.

ORIGINS OF GAMES.

Tennis Is Very Old and Comes From the Greeks and Romans.

Tennis is perhaps the oldest of modern games. It is said to have originated in the ball games of the Greeks and Romans. The racket was introduced during the fifteenth century in France, where the game was very popular, and imported into England about the same time.

Of the origin of golf we know but little, though it was especially popular with the Scots back in the fourteenth century and was then called "gowf and handstroke."

Bowling greens for boys were once plentiful in London, and Henry VIII made an alley at Whitehall. The earliest trace of the game appears to be of old point of about six centuries ago.

Few perhaps know that London's fashionable thoroughfare, Pall Mall, derived its name from an old "Pall Mall" court which stood on the site 200 years ago. This game was a form of croquet.

Golf or "goff" seems to have made its first appearance in the bandy ball of Elizabeth's reign, which was played with a club tipped with horn. Prince Henry, the son of James I., occasionally played at this game, which was very popular among the young noblemen of his day.

Football became such a rage with the London youths of the fourteenth century that a law was passed to prohibit it being played, as archery—then an important branch of education—was becoming thoroughly neglected.—London Mail.

CURIOUS TAXES.

Ways Holland Had of Raising Funds In the Old Days.

The archives of Holland contain ordinances which may well be regarded as curiosities of taxation. In the year 1666 there was a tax imposed on all passengers traveling in Holland by land or water. In 1791 this tax was still in force.

In 1674 a duty of 2½ pence was levied on each person who entered a tavern before noon. Those assembling in a private house after 3 o'clock in the afternoon for the purpose of amusing themselves had each to pay a certain sum, and those who entered a place of entertainment were likewise taxed. There was a duty on marriages and deaths. The amount of the tax varied according to the social position of the parties, while in the case of a person buried outside of the district in which he lived the amount payable by his executor was doubled.

But the most curious tax of all was one imposed in 1674 on boots and shoes. In order to prevent the impost from being evaded each of those articles so essential to human comfort had to be conspicuously marked on the upper leather with the stamp of the maker and also with that of the taxing officer. The sum to be paid was regulated by the size of the boot or shoe, so apart from the question of beauty in those days it was a real advantage to have a small foot. It saved expense.—London Mail.

Loans Without Interest.

In the city of Barcelona, Spain, there is a peculiar pawnbroking establishment bearing the dainty name of "Our Lady of Hope," where loans are made without interest to necessitous persons on the deposit of any articles in pledge. Two-thirds of the value of the deposit is at once advanced, and the loan is made for six months and a day, but if at the expiration of that period the depositor should declare himself unable to redeem it after another period of six months the pledges are sold, but if they yield more than the amount advanced the difference is given to the original owner. This institution is very popular. Thousands are every year suitors for the favor thus afforded by "Our Lady of Hope."—Richard Ford, "Gatherings From Spain."

Why Rubber Tires Grow Hot.

When an automobile is running at high speed the rubber tires are rapidly warmed, and the heat sometimes becomes very great, with resultant injury to the rubber. The cause of this accumulation of heat in the tire is ascribed to the kneading of the rubber, which generates heat faster than it can be radiated away. For this reason manufacturers have found it to be an advantage to have metal parts in the tread, such as the ends of rivets, in contact with the tire, because the metal, being a good radiator, helps to carry off the heat to the outer air.

Evolution of Clothes.

Centuries ago, as Sir Walter Scott says in "Ivanhoe," men wore one thickness of clothes, whether of wool, leather or velvet. The shirt was invented, but for a long time was worn only by the nobility and gentry. Then followed the waistcoat, breeches and later on trousers. The overcoat, which succeeded the medieval cloak, was rare until the seventeenth century.

Very Exclusive.

The English class was studying Scott, and the teacher asked some one to explain the meaning of the line "He is come of high degree." One boy arose and explained readily. "It means his parents were both gentlemen."—Christian Herald.

DO YOU KNOW

That the Carnegie Steel Company is building one of the greatest Steel Plants in the world at McDonald, near Niles, Ohio, and that its estimated cost is $17,000,000.00?

Seventeen million dollars—think of it! And that it is to employ TEN THOUSAND MEN and that great care is being taken at great expense to the company to PROTECT THE LIVES OF ITS WORKMEN from all kinds of accidents? and that this great new mill can be operated in dull times at a profit when old mills must be idle.

What a Good Place this will be for Working Men

DO YOU KNOW

That this WONDERFUL STEEL MILL is being built on the MAHONING river and on the line of the proposed Lake Erie and Ohio River Ship Canal and that it is near to Youngstown, Girard and Warren, Ohio, one of the busiest mill districts in the United States and that the new Street Car Line is to be only a block away from our property.

Street Car Fares

From Youngstown to Niles 10c; from Girard to Niles 5c; from Warren to Niles 10c; from McDonald to Niles 5c.

A New City for Workingmen

Within a few years this new city should have a population of 25,000 to 40,000 people. Some of the lots that can now be bought for a few hundred dollars may then be worth several thousand dollars.

Chances to Make MONEY

Think of the fortunes that have been made in all big cities by buying lots when they were first laid out. A man from Pittsburgh bought a lot in the city of Portland some years ago for $300 that is now worth more than $300,000, and that is only one of thousands of cases in which men have become independently rich by buying in a place that has a great future. McDonald has a great future.

HANGING BY A THREAD

"THE QUALITY OF MERCY IS NOT STRAINED."

Clarence Loper, 54, a sober, industrious machinist, when brought before Judge Norman S. Dike in Brooklyn charged with theft of metal worth $200, confessed the theft. Investigation disclosed the pitiful story of the old workman—loss of position and threatened foreclosure of mortgage on his little home, his sole possession from years of toil. Judge Dike declared it was refreshing, after many years dealing with hardened criminals, to find a man genuinely sorry for a misdeed. He not only dismissed Loper, but advanced him money to pay interest on the mortgage, promised further aid
